14TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

When the sabbath came he began to teach in the synagogue, and many who heard him were astonished. They said, "Where did this man get all this? What kind of wisdom has been given him? What mighty deeds are wrought by his hands!" - Mk 6:2

Cuando llegó el sábado, se puso a enseñar en la sinagoga, y la multitud que lo escuchaba se preguntaba con asombro: "¿Dónde aprendió este hombre tantas cosas? ¿De dónde le viene esa sabiduría y ese poder para hacer milagros?" - Mc 6, 2

PASTOR'S CORNER

No-Thing, but God Alone

St. John of the Cross tells of an account of a brother in the Carmelite community who wore a small cross on his habit. His cell, (this is what the Carmelites call their rooms) had only a bed to sleep and a desk and chair to write on. He had no books, no icons, statues or images of our Lord. He did not even have a Rosary. Aside from the habit he was wearing, the small cross was the only thing that he owned. One day, the superior of the community approached the brother and asked that he hand over the cross. He protested: He was better than any of the others at following the vow of poverty; It was the only thing that he owned; It was only a small thing; And it was a holy thing; Why would the superior refuse him the ability to have so simple a sign of our Lord and source of life? "Your protest," he said, "is the reason. Even though it is a small and simple thing, you have become too attached to it."

In the words of St. John of the Cross, at the end of the spiritual life is nothing but God alone. He is both our Creator and End; the Source and Summit of life; the Alpha and Omega. We began from Him and will rest only in Him and Him alone. There is no other, as St. Augustine also discovered and described, that can give rest to our hearts. This is a simple and easy concept for us to understand. It goes back all the way to the first commandment and few would disagree with it. However, even this very holy monk didn't quite understand. Rather than focusing on nothing but God alone, we should rather say that it is no-thing but God alone. As Theresa of Avila wrote: God alone suffices.

Everything in this world is fulfilled in serving one purpose, that is, to lead us closer toward God and into perfect union with Him. If it does not; if it becomes an obstacle or even actively take people further from God (what we call evil), then it is not fulfilling its original design and good. Everything can be and finds redemption in being directed toward God. This is why we have holy things: images of the saints, the Rosary and other devotional prayers. They lead us to higher things. But they only get us so far. They raise our hearts toward heaven, but they cannot raise us to heaven.

Imagine that you are climbing a mountain and come to a very difficult place in the climb; an experienced guide (such as your mother) lowers her hand; pulls you up; leads you through the difficult section; then you come to another difficult section, one with ice, but she does not have an ice-axe. If you continue to hold onto her hand, you can't climb any further. Do you let her go so that you can grasp the proper tool and continue to ascend? Being detached means that we are free to continue to climb and have faith that God will also give us what we need to make the climb.
